MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director of Central Intelligence

THROUGH: Robert M. Gates
Deputy Director for IntelligenceFROM: [redacted] 25X1
Acting Director
Scientific and Weapons Research

SUBJECT: Comments on 'Forecasting' STIC Report

1. The report "Forecasting in the Intelligence Community" presents a good summary of how the services are using forecasting on many of their projects, but falls short of being a comprehensive review of what is being done by each organization. This report focuses on threat forecasting, with an emphasis on determining the capabilities of [redacted] 25X1. Future STIC studies should include more on the problems of forecasting science and technology. In particular, explicit discussions are needed of how to forecast developments in fundamental [redacted] 25X1

2. I believe that the STIC arrived at the correct conclusions from their research. As the report states, forecasting methods exist; what is needed is to apply those methods consistently, with a good audit trail, to real problems. [redacted] 25X1
